

KIX EAP Podcast – Episode 16: Experiences of a policymaker, PISA and the 'Ivory Tower' with Laziz Khujakulov

Speaker biographical note

Dr. Laziz Khujakulov is Head of the Department of Education Quality Monitoring and Teacher Professional Development in the Ministry of Public Education for the Republic of Uzbekistan. In his role, he manages the administration of PISA and other large-scale international assessments in the country. He also oversees the development of quality assurance measures and teacher professional development programs. His position sees considerable international cooperation and partnerships with other countries such as Turkey, the United States, Russia, and EU states. Dr. Khujakulov formerly worked with the Korean multinational from KT Corporation (Korea Telecom) and Hyundai Engineering, and was a Lecturer of Economics at Bukhara State University (Uzbekistan). He holds a Ph.D. from Alexander Technological Educational Institute of Thessaloniki (Greece), along with a B.A. from the University of Manchester (UK).