ABOUT THE PROJECT

NORRAG's work on meaningful youth engagement aims to surface fresh analytical perspectives and under-represented expertise about youth engagement and its consequences for education and sustainability globally. Despite resurgent interest in youth engagement, many young people experience youth engagement practices as shallow or performative. To advance both understanding and practice, this project asks: How can we improve meaningful youth engagement and unleash the full power of youth participation, partnership and action? Youth who have been engaged in—or have tried to engage in—governance processes are best placed to help others understand how to work with them.

This publication collates contributions from youth to advance world-leading and world-changing, youth-led practices for meaningful youth engagement. Meaningful youth engagement can only be achieved by listening to youth and mobilising the trust of youth. This Policy Insights collection seeks to surface and amplify young leaders' expertise on how best to engage youth for a better today and tomorrow. By so doing, readers can learn from youth experts in order to better work with them.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This publication was made possible by NORRAG's ongoing and fruitful partnership with the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation. Views expressed in this publication are those of the contributors. They do not represent the views of NORRAG as an organisation or the wider NORRAG membership. The content and perspectives presented in these contributions are those of the individual authors and do not represent views of any of their organisations. We are deeply grateful for the time, energy and insights of all of the experts who contributed to this Policy Insights collection on meaningful youth engagement.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

To advance both understanding and practice, NORRAG convened 55 youth experts from 31 countries in 6 continents to advance world-leading and world-changing youth-led practices for meaningful youth engagement. A full list of the authors who contributed to this publication, including their biographies, can be found at the end of this publication. The publication is edited by Carolina Earle, NORRAG's Youth Engagement Specialist, and Moira V. Faul, NORRAG's Executive Director. They also introduce the publication. A foreword to the publication is provided by Heela Yoon, a Young Leader for SDGs with The United Nations Office of the Secretary-General's Envoy on Youth and Founder of Afghan Youth Ambassadors for Peace (AYAP).

ABOUT NORRAG

NORRAG is the Global Education Centre of the Geneva Graduate Institute and is a global membership-based network of international policies and cooperation in education and training. NORRAG's core mandate is to co-produce, disseminate and broker critical knowledge and to strengthen capacity for and with academia, governments, NGOs, international organizations, foundations and the private sector who inform and shape education policies and practice, at national and international levels. Through our work, NORRAG contributes to creating the conditions for more participatory, evidence-informed decisions that improve equal access to and quality of education and training.
